

Harrogate Christmas & Gift News

Gifts galore

With the Christmas season almost upon us, the majority of manufacturers and retailers in the gift sector will be focusing on looking for great new product lines for next year and Harrogate Christmas & Gift (15th - 18th January 2012) guarantees retailers a flying start to the 2012 festive season.

Harrogate Christmas & Gift is the first European trade show specifically geared towards the Christmas & gift trade and with both exhibitor and visitor numbers up 20% last year, it's never too soon to get involved – whether exhibiting or visiting.

With six halls packed with exciting new and tried and tested products from Christmas trees and decorations to novelty and gift items, gardening ranges and even furniture, there is guaranteed to be the 'perfect something' to take pride of place on every shop shelf.

Also, don't miss the Volume and Clearance Section which will be housed in the nearby Majestic Hotel where you can grab a bargain from toiletries, housewares, stationery, electrical, toys and numerous other everyday essentials.

Visit www.harrogatefair.com where you can book stands and register to visit online.

Flying the flag

Priding itself on being one of the most prominent homeware and gift companies in the UK, Salco's design, development and sourcing programme has gained it a respected reputation for quality and performance amongst both customers and manufacturers.

In addition to its 6000 products for the home and garden, and in preparation for the 2012 Olympics, Salco will be launching a range of patriotic and Union Jack inspired items. These red, white and blue products include glow-in-the dark accessories, tealights, tealight holders, candles, windmills, napkins, lanterns and anything else needed to show support.

2012 brings exciting new additions to Salco's Christmas collections, with fully comprehensive ranges to satisfy any festive interior style. Brand new for this season are some fabulous additions to the glitzy gold collection; with many new handcrafted figurines, drinking glasses, gift bags and box designs. Or, if it is a traditional look you're after, Salco's red festive collection offers new decorative flowers, picks, decorations, festive doormats, highly fragranced cinnamon spice candles and room diffusers. In fact everything you need to create the perfect traditional Christmas.

Make sure you pay a visit to Salco's stand at Harrogate Christmas & Gift or visit www.salcogroup.com for more information.
